

Tips for winning a recipe contest:

Follow the rules:

If it says a minimum of 4 whole eggs, use four eggs or more. Egg farmers are sponsoring this contest, so don't skimp on the minimum. Read over the rules and make sure you're not doing something that the judges will disqualify you for. Remember, if two recipes are equally wonderful, judges may need to find something wrong with one, to get a winner.

Must it be an original recipe?

Is there an original recipe out there, or are they all 'adapted' because of what we have on hand or what ingredients are currently popular? If you've done that and folks just marvel at how terrific it is – that's the recipe we want! If it's an old family recipe, you may have to redo it using currently available ingredients or pans. And make sure it can be easily duplicated.

Give us some of the recipe's history

If the recipe has special meaning, tell us about it.

What's the #1 thing we're looking for?

It must be delicious. Creativity is good. Unusual is good. Clever is good. But delicious is great!

The printed recipe:

- Use a computer and type it, if possible. If not available, make sure it is printed legibly.
- Keep all the ingredients on top, listed in order of use.
- Make sure all abbreviations are correctly written.
- If it's an unusual ingredient, * it and list where it can be purchased, at the bottom of recipe.
- Include baking temperature, time, pan size, and the number of servings it makes.
- Directions should be simple to follow but may include what food should look like at certain stages (sauté until golden, whip until stiff, bake until it tests done with a pick, etc.).
- Your name should be on the back of the recipe, along with legible contact information.

Come up with a catchy name:

Eggnog is not a catchy name - how about Ellie's Eggstra-Special Eggnog?

Bring it to the fair on time:

Find out what time judging will be. If your item needs to be judged cold, bring it in a cooler.

If it needs to be served hot, bring it in an insulated container, kept hot, with a hot brick inside, or ask ahead if a microwave is available to heat samples.

Presentation is key:

Check out food photography in cookbooks and magazines. Garnish thoughtfully...berries, mint, Camelia leaves, herbs, slivered almonds, etc. Powdered sugar looks great on baked items and covers imperfections. Visit the dollar store for a presentation platter that you don't mind leaving behind should you win. If appropriate, coordinate serving pieces with the colors and size of your entry. Some fairs will allow placemats.
